The Call of the Wild

Objectives

By the end of this Unit, the student will be able to:

1. write an essay that explains the significance of the title and show why the title represents the story’s main theme.

2. explain why the novel is a good example of naturalistic writing.

3. define the following terms and cite examples from the story:
   - personification
   - naturalism
   - symbolism
   - point of view
   - foreshadowing
   - anthropomorphism
   - metaphor
   - hyperbole
   - narrator
   - irony
   - episodic novel

4. draw inferences about plot and characters.

5. list the major incidents in the plot and explain why it is considered episodic.

6. comment on Jack London’s style of writing.

7. discuss the themes below that appear in the story:
   - Life in the Yukon is a constant struggle for survival and dominance.
   - In some creatures, like Buck, the primitive lies just below the surface and, given the right conditions, will easily come forth.
   - Life is a struggle against a harsh environment.
   - The call (both a “lure” and a “sound”) of wilderness represents adventure, strength, hardship, and Buck himself.

8. understand and find examples of anthropomorphism in general, and as it applies to Buck.

Questions for Essay and Discussion

1. There are two basic settings in this story, the Southland and the Northland. Show how a contrast of these two settings illustrates the theme of a return to and preference for the primitive.

2. Trace throughout the novel and cite those comments and incidents that support the following thesis: A major theme in The Call of the Wild is that a domesticated creature can be drawn back to its primitive roots.

3. Show how this novel illustrates and promotes Darwin's theory of “the survival of the fittest,” and indicate how this theory relates to the literary movement known as “naturalism.”

4. Write a page on the symbolism found in this novel. Be sure to mention the four major symbols and what they symbolize.

5. Write a paragraph or two on the use of foreshadowing in this novel.

6. Define the following terms and illustrate them by citing examples from the story:
   - personification
   - naturalism
   - symbolism
   - anthropomorphism
   - foreshadowing
   - inference
   - metaphor
   - hyperbole
   - narrator
   - irony
   - episodic novel

7. Comment on the following ideas:
   - The survival of the fittest is still operating in our society.
   - Within every creature, including man, there are still primitive urges that come to the surface.
   - It is both human and animal nature to seek power and dominance over others.
