The Best of Poe

Questions for Essay and Discussion

1. Discuss the various elements of Gothic literature that arise in The Fall of the House of Usher.
2. Explain the metaphysical relationship between Roderick and Madeline Usher.
3. Define the fundamental characteristics of detective fiction as portrayed in The Murders in the Rue Morgue.
4. Explain how Never Bet the Devil Your Head is a satirical response to critics who claim that Poe's work contains no moral lessons.
5. What is significant about the design and layout of the seven rooms in The Masque of the Red Death?
6. Explain the double meaning of the title, The Masque of the Red Death.
7. In The Pit and the Pendulum, how is the endurance of the human spirit celebrated?
8. How does the narrator's sensory perception increase the element of terror in The Pit and the Pendulum?
9. In The Tell-Tale Heart, what is the "Evil Eye"? How does the superstitious belief in the "Evil Eye" relate to the story?
10. In what way is the narrator established as unreliable in The Tell-Tale Heart?
11. In The Gold-Bug, what coincidences play a role in discovering the treasure?
12. Cite the similarities between The Tell-Tale Heart and The Black Cat.
13. How does Poe employ supernatural or unusual events to create suspense in The Black Cat?
14. What characteristics indicate that A Tale of the Ragged Mountains is a psychological story instead of a supernatural thriller?
15. In what ways does The Premature Burial differ from other short stories by Poe?
16. How does Poe utilize sensory images to enhance The Premature Burial?
17. How does the significance of the letter change throughout The Purloined Letter?

1. The story begins with a quote by Don Thomas de las Torres, which essentially states that “provided the morals of an author are pure personally, it signifies nothing what are the morals of his books.” Does the narrator agree or disagree with this perspective?

2. The narrator addresses the issue of morals in fiction, stating that all works of fiction, despite the author’s intentions, contain a moral lesson. He writes, “A novelist, for example, need have no care of his moral. It is there—that is to say, it is somewhere—and the moral and the critics can take care of themselves.” (Pg. 56) Why does Poe begin the story with this message?

3. Explain the following comment that the narrator makes about Toby Dammit: “He was a sad dog, it is true, and a dog’s death it was that he died.” (Pg. 56)

4. What explanation is given for why a left-handed person should not flog a child?

5. Why is the description of Dammit’s childhood development humorous?

1. According to the narrator, why is it acceptable to write about horrible incidents, and why?

2. Explain the following statement: “The true wretchedness, indeed—the ultimate woe—is particular, not diffuse.” (Pg. 133)

3. The narrator writes, “That the ghastly extremes of agony are endured by man the unit, and never by man the mass—for this let us thank a merciful God!” (Pg. 133) Why is this statement ironic?

4. What does the narrator identify as the worst form of personal suffering?

5. The narrator describes an incident involving a deceased woman from Baltimore. What occurs three years after her death, and what does the family discern about the woman’s situation?

6. Why does Mademoiselle Victorine Lafourcade marry Monsieur Renelle instead of Julien Bossuet? How is her marriage to Monsieur Renelle?
