

Samole Prestwick House Activity Pack Control Prestwick House Activity Pack Prestwic about this Activity Pack!

More from Prestwick House

Literature

Literary Touchstone Classics Literature Teaching Units

Grammar and Writing

College and Career Readiness: Writing Grammar for Writing

Vocabulary

Vocabulary Power Plus Vocabulary from Latin and Greek Roots

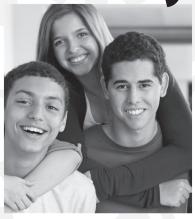

Reading

Reading Informational Texts Reading Literature

Great American Short Stories

BY PAUL MOLIKEN (ED.)

Copyright © 2010 by Prestwick House, Inc., P.O. Box 658, Clayton, DE 19938. 1-800-932-4593 • www.prestwickhouse.com

Permission to copy this unit for classroom use is extended to purchaser for his or her personal use. This material, in whole or part, may not be copied for resale.

Table of Contents

rre-keading
Researching American History	6
Author Biography	8
Nathaniel Hawthorne: Young Goodman Brown
Character Names	10
Story Discussion	14
Symbolism	16
Edgar Allan Poe: The Tell-Tale Heart
Crossword Challenge	20
Comic Strip
Come Surp
Herman Melville: Bartleby
Allusion	24
Prequel	28
Prot Hartor The Lyck of Dearing Comp
Bret Harte: The Luck of Roaring Camp Creative Euphemisms	30
1
Found Poem	34
Stephen Crane: The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky
Figurative Language	36
Irony
Mark Twain: The Private History of a Campaign that Failed	42
Letter Writing
Movie Poster	44
Sarah Orne Jewett: A White Heron
Persuasive Speech	46
Ten Years After
Charles Waddell Chesnutt: The Goophered Grapevine
Frame Story
Writing in Dialect	52
Mary E. Wilkins Freeman: A New England Nun
Horoscopes	54
Local Color Writing
Local Color Willing

Charlotte Perkins Gilman: The Yellow Wallpaper
Journaling
Point of View	60
Debate	62
Henry James: The Real Thing
The Art of Illusion	64
Definition Poem	66
Kate Chopin: A Pair of Silk Stockings
Shopping List	68
Sequel
Jack London: To Build a Fire
Obituary	72
Survival Guide
Ambrose Bierce: An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge
Vocabulary	76
Flashback
Theodore Dreiser: The Lost Phoebe
Lost Poster	82
Epitaphs	84
Willa Cather: Paul's Case
Awareness Campaign	86
Advice Column
F. Scott Fitzgerald: Bernice Bobs Her Hair
Chapter Titles	90
Plot	92
Sherwood Anderson: The Egg
Quiz	96
Evaluation Chart	100
Ernest Hemingway: The Killers
Stark Style	104
Pulp Fiction	106
Wrap-Up
High Five	108
Collage	110
Letter to the Author	112

Student's Page	Stud	ent's	Page
----------------	------	-------	------

Great American Short Stories

N	ame: Date:
	Pre-Reading
	Researching American History
Oł	ojective: Providing context to the stories
Ac	tivity
	ing the Internet and other appropriate reference materials, research the span of time (1835 – 1927) presented by the stories collected in Great American Short Stories . Answer the following questions:
1.	What is life like for the majority of people in the United States in 1835?
2.	What important changes in lifestyle occur during these years?
	• 1836:
	• 1876:
	• 1879:
3.	What major political events took place during these years?
	• 1835:
	• 1836:
	• 1837:
	• 1842:
	• 1845:
	• 1846:
	• 1848:
	• 1857:
	• 1861 – 1865:
	• 1865:
	• 1920:
4.	What significant events take place in American literature?
	• 1850:
	• 1851:
	• 1852:
	• 1855:

Stud	lent's	Page

Great American Short Stories

N	ame: Date:
	"Young Goodman Brown"
	Story Discussion
Ob	jectives: Extracting and analyzing ideas from the text Participating in a class discussion
Ac	ivity
op no	nd each of the following questions about "Young Goodman Brown," and write down your thoughts are nions in response to them. Use your answers to effectively participate in a class discussion. There a right or wrong answers to the questions as they are based on opinion, but you must be prepared oport your ideas with examples from the story.
1.	Why does Goodman Brown leave his wife to enter the forest alone?
2.	If Brown thinks the man in the woods is the Devil, why does he walk with him?
3.	What is the significance of the Devil recounting the evil deeds done by Brown's father and grandfather
4.	Why is Goodman Brown miserable after he renounces the Devil?
5.	Do you think the meeting of the witches in the woods was a dream? If Goodman Brown was on dreaming, why does he ignore his wife the next morning?
6.	What is the message or theme of the story?
7.	If Goodman Brown's walk with the Devil and the meeting of witches is a dream, does that have an effe on the message or theme?
8.	Discuss the relationship between the psychological characteristics of the characters and the supernature elements of the story.
9.	"Young Goodman Brown" is an allegorical story. Do you think it can also be considered a satire of the Salem witch hunts?

Student's Page	Great American Short Stories
Name:	Date:

"Bartleby"

Allusion

Objective: Recognizing allusion and understanding how it enriches a story

Activity

An allusion is a reference to an event, person, place, myth, or artistic work that the writer thinks the reader will recognize. It conveys information quickly and helps the reader make a connection to the story. An allusion can convey a hidden meaning, emphasize a certain characteristic or event, or evoke a particular feeling in the reader.

In "Bartleby," Herman Melville makes several biblical allusions and references to people and events that may be unfamiliar to the modern reader. Using library resources or the Internet, research each biblical and historical reference listed in the following chart, and explain it and why it is relevant to the story.

Student's Page	Great American Short Stories
Name:	Date:

"The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky"

Figurative Language

Objective: Identifying figurative language in a story

Activity

Writers use figurative language to evoke emotion, convey a deeper meaning, or emphasize an action or event in the text. Similes, metaphors, and personification are just some of the literary devices used to achieve these goals. Stephen Crane uses all of these in "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky."

Locate examples of each type of literary device listed and then complete the chart. You will need to find two similes, two metaphors, and two examples of personification. An example of simile has been provided.

Student's Page Great American Short Stories

Name:	Date:
-------	-------

"A White Heron"

Ten Years After

Objectives: Examining relationships between characters

Predicting future events

Activity

Nine-year-old Sylvia lives on her grandmother's isolated farm. Sylvia prefers the farm to the crowded manufacturing town in which she was born, but her only friend is the family's cow. When a young hunter stumbles into the forest, Sylvia realizes how much she'd like to have a real friend. In addition, she develops a child's crush on the man. To impress him, Sylvia ventures out on her own to find the white heron he desperately wants to add to his collection; but, after observing the bird, Sylvia changes her mind about helping the man. In spite of the promise of money and friendship, Sylvia finds that she cannot reveal the location of the heron's nest to the man who would take its life.

Imagine that ten years have passed, and Sylvia encounters the hunter again. Consider the following questions and then write a few paragraphs describing their meeting:

- Sylvia is now nineteen. Would she still be living with her grandmother?
- Is Sylvia in school, or does she have a job?
- Where do Sylvia and the hunter see each other again and under what circumstances?
- Does Sylvia still love nature and want to protect it?
- Is the hunter still an ornithologist?
- Describe what happens when Sylvia and the hunter meet.

Student's Page	Ureaf American Short Stories
ame.	Date:

"The Yellow Wallpaper"

Journaling

Objective: Using journaling as a means of self-expression

Activity

The narrator in "The Yellow Wallpaper" is writing in secret because her husband believes that writing threatens her health. In reality, writing your thoughts in a journal can relieve stress and contribute to a healthier mental outlook.

Journaling is more than writing entries in a diary to keep track of daily events, although it may include that. Journaling is more about recording how you respond to those events. It may be said that Charlotte Perkins Gilman wrote "The Yellow Wallpaper" in response to events in her own life. She suffered severe depression and anxiety and was forced to submit to the Victorian rest cure, which consisted of immobility and isolation. Her short story illustrates that such a treatment can have the opposite effect; it can cause a person's mental health to deteriorate, and in this story, it causes the narrator to lose her sanity.

Write a journal entry in response to one of the following incidents from your own life:

- the last time you won something; a game, a prize, first chair in band class, etc.
- your most recent bad or good grade
- a time when you were sick
- a loss; as in the death of a loved one, a broken friendship, or a move

While journaling, first recount the event and then describe how it made you feel and how long that feeling lasted. Think about what the event may have taught you about the world or about yourself.

Student's Page

Great American Short Stories

Name:	Date:
-------	-------

"The Egg"

Evaluation Chart

Objective: Evaluating and critiquing the story

Activity

Now that you have finished the story, you can evaluate it to determine its merit as a work of literature. Using the Evaluation Chart provided, rate "The Egg" in the following areas. Consider the questions in each area to assist you in your evaluation.

Plot:

- Did the story maintain your interest?
- Was the pace of the plot appropriate for the story, or was it too fast or too slow?
- Within the fictional context of the plot, was the story believable?
- Did you notice any holes in the plot, or were there any unanswered questions?

Characters:

- Were the characters easy for you to relate to?
- Were the characters well defined?
- Were they consistent throughout the story?

Themes and Motifs:

- Were there any themes and/or motifs in the story?
- Did the writer present a clear message about those themes and motifs? Were they well developed?

Style:

- Did the narrator have a unique and consistent voice throughout the novel?
- Did the writer frequently employ literary devices?
- Did the writer's tone help maintain your interest in the story?

Relevance to the 21st Century:

• Do you think the message of the story is as relevant to readers in the 21st century as it was to readers in the early 20th century?

Suitability for High School:

• Do you think a young adult can learn anything from this novel?